Children travelling to and from school alone

I would personally rest a lot easier if Primary School age children were accompanied by a parent or a delegated responsible adult (over the age of 14 years) on their way to and from school. However now that our older children (Years 4, 5 and 6) are increasing in their independence, a large number of them are walking to and from school either alone or with friends.

As parents/guardians it is your responsibility to decide how your child travels to and from school. If you are happy for your Year 4, 5 or 6 child to travel to and from school without adult supervision on a regular basis or on specific days then please could you indicate below. Please note that these children must not be asked to supervise younger brothers or sisters to or from school.

If your child needs to be taken home during the school day due to illness then we will contact you and ask you to collect your child from school or arrange for a delegated responsible adult to collect your child. In these circumstances we would not expect your child when they are ill to walk home alone.

Finally, could you please note that there is no adult supervision on the playground in the morning and the school doors open at 8.45 am. Until this time your children remain your responsibility.
